THE LOCATION

The Deutsche Telekom's representative office is a wonderful ambience for any type of conference, gala, PR or policy events. In addition, it also has suitable rooms for workshops, seminars and meetings.

The obtained building dates back to the early days of telecommunications and is a part of the former "Imperial Haupttelegraphenam". The building is linked in particular architectural way to the past and the present.

In addition, the historic façade was expanded by a new glass building which opens the view now into the light-flooded atrium. This creates a stylish and modern atmosphere.

The Capital representation office is located between the Gendarmenmarkt and the Schloss. Therefore it offers a very good connection to the public transportation system in the heart of the city.
